N-VIRO INTERNATIONAL CONTRACT WITH PORT ORANGE, FLORIDA EXTENDED

TOLEDO OHIO, January 7, 2010 – N-Viro International Corporation (OTC Bulletin Board: NVIC.OB) (“N-Viro”), an environmental and materials operating company that owns patented technologies to convert various types of waste into beneficial reuse products, including the renewable biofuel N-Viro Fuel™ and, N-Viro Soil™, announces it has extended its contract to process all of the City of Port Orange, Florida’s municipal biosolids into N-Viro Soil™ for an additional year.

N-Viro has been processing all of the biosolids produced by the City of Port Orange for the past two years. Within the terms of the contract, mutual one-year extensions are allowed through 2012. This contract has now been renewed through December 31, 2010. The City of Port Orange produces between 8,000-10,000 tons of biosolids annually, and represents about 10% of Florida N-Viro’s total revenue at their regional processing facility in Volusia County, Florida. The Company is pleased to continue to serve the City of Port Orange.

About N-Viro International (www.nviro.com)

N-Viro International is an environmental and materials operating company that owns patented technologies to convert various types of waste into beneficial alternative fuel products. Its renewable biofuel technology, N-Viro Fuel™, has received alternative energy status from the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency, which qualifies the technology for renewable energy incentives. N-Viro operates processing facilities independently as well as in partnership with municipalities.

N-Viro recently launched a new and improved web site at www.nviro.com, where interested parties can follow the progress of the Company. N-Viro will continue to routinely post press releases on the site and encourages stockholders and interested parties to monitor this web site on a regular basis.

Special Cautionary Note Regarding Forward-Looking Statements

The Company cautions that words used in this document such as "expects," "anticipates," "believes" and "may," as well as similar words and expressions used herein, identify and refer to statements describing events that may or may not occur in the future. These forward-looking statements and the matters to which they refer are subject to considerable uncertainty that may cause actual results to differ materially from those described herein. For example, while the Company expects business expansion projects to begin in an estimated time frame, such expectations are subject to adverse economic conditions and other factors outside of the Company's control. Further, the Company's ability to increase capabilities and expand capacity is subject to the ability of the Company or its partners to access sufficient capital to pay for this expansion, which will further depend on, among other factors, market acceptance. The Company's ability to achieve profitability of these projects could be negatively impacted if there is a lack of an adequate supply of waste or expenses increase above the Company's expectations - including
